

Western Center for Agricultural Health and Safety,
University of California, Davis
California Heat Illness Prevention Study (CHIPS)

Invite you to a
Free Heat Illness Prevention Training

*Training will be in Spanish

Why this training is important?

- Cal/OSHA §3395 applies to all outdoor places of employment
- Heat illness can affect anyone working outdoors
- Heat illness can be life threatening
- Heat illness deaths are preventable

You will learn how to:

- Identify the Cal/OSHA Heat Illness Prevention Standard requirements
- Identify the elements of a successful Heat Illness Prevention Program
- Practice effective training techniques to inform workers

When: June 1, 2017
9:00 am - noon

Where: Elks' Lodge
614 Airport Blvd, Salinas, CA 93901

Space is limited.

To save your spot return the registration form (included below) by May 26

Western Center for Agricultural Health and Safety,
University of California, Davis
California Heat Illness Prevention Study (CHIPS)

Free Heat Illness Prevention Training

*Training will be in Spanish

June 1, 2017

Salinas, CA

Registration Form

Name: _____

Company: _____

Address: _____

Telephone: _____

Email: _____

Number of workers you plan to train using the materials we provide: _____

*Each attendee must fill out a separate registration form

Send registration no later than May 26th, 2017 to:

Isabel Flores by email: igflores@ucdavis.edu

or via FAX: 530-752-5047